CSOs Human Rights Monitoring & Reporting System of the Thai CSOs Coalition for the UPR

Regional Nodes:

- Northern Regional Node
  - Hosted by CPGR
- Northeastern "E-Saan" Regional Node
  - Hosted by the Legal Center for Human Rights & the New E-Saan Movement
- Central & Eastern Regional Node
  - Hosted by Pakorn Areekul & Wannapong Yodmihang
- Southern Regional Node
  - Hosted by the Patani Institute & MAC

Manushya Foundation is a "Bridge" to Engage, Mobilise, Empower Agents of Change. Manushya Foundation connects local communities across Thailand through coalition building, to ensure they are at the center of the human rights and sustainable development responses of the country. By building capacities on human rights mechanisms, sharing experiences, developing innovative strategies and strengthening solidarity, the Manushya Foundation empowers communities to advance social justice and peace.

Regional Nodes: the regional nodes are sub-regional hubs comprising human rights lawyers and/or human rights advocates monitoring and reporting on the human rights situation related to civil and political rights as well as economic, social and cultural rights. In liaison with Manushya Foundation, the regional nodes are responsible for supporting investigation of human rights cases, building credible evidence, and reporting back to human rights mechanisms.

Focal points for sub-grants: the focal points are responsible for working towards the implementation of specific international human rights obligations for monitoring the human rights situation related to their thematic issue. They send information to regional nodes to further document cases of human rights violations.

Community-research team / Business & Human Rights Sub-regional Coalitions: the community research team comprises members of the sub-regional coalitions on Business & Human Rights, working together to map out and document the negative impacts of business conducts in Thailand, to build capacity on corporate accountability and to campaign to effectively access to remedy.